KEYES CALLED HINDRANCE IN STATE SENATEHANDFUL ACCUSED OF ACTING LIKE
PRIMA DONNAS

Higgins Lake, Mich., June 7 (AP)—Governor Kim Sigler today declared that Lieutenant Governor Eugene B. Keyes and a "handful" of state senate members had obstructed the administration's legislative program.

Speaking before the annual state meeting of Michigan Associated Press editors, the governor praised the work of the House but called the Senate "the worst I've known in many years."

The lieutenant governor as presiding Senate officer, the Governor said, had "attempted in every move in the (past) session to stifle the administration's program," and before committees and other agencies.

Playing Politics
"He didn't even come along to my office," Gov. Sigler declared, "and when he did show up for special meetings I told him he ought to quit playing politics. And for the sake of the public pay attention to his office."

Gov. Sigler said he told Dr. Keyes he "wasn't interested" in whether he (Keyes) was attempting to build himself up for political office but that he should consider his duty as a public officer-holder to "carry out the performance of his office."

The Governor described the majority of Senate members as sincere, honest, conscientious public servants, but declared a "small group of prima donnas" had not helped in any way to carry out a constructive legislative program.

"It is amazing," he said, "how a handful in committees and on the floor (of the Senate) can raise havoc."
Explaining the philosophy he adopted when he took office, the Governor said he believed the legislative, judicial and executive branches "should always remain independent and free of one another."

Didn't Crack Whip
With that in mind, he said, he decided to "remain in the background as much as possible and not try to crack the whip."
Sigler said that when he took office as governor in January, public opinion of the legislature was "at a very low ebb" because of the graft investigation and prosecution conducted by the Ingham county one-man grand jury of which he was special prosecutor.

The Governor explained he had hoped the members of the legislature would "lift themselves up to a new level of public confidence by their own efforts, and their own constructive action."
"I didn't want to go in there as a prosecutor," the Governor declared. "I wanted to give these men a chance. I wanted to bend over backwards to give them a chance to raise themselves by their own conduct."

Speaking of the House action on legislation, Gov. Sigler declared, "Frankly, I told the members of the House I was proud of

The Sears auto, owned by Emerson Kidd of Ford River, was one of those manufactured by Sears, Roebuck & company at the turn of the century. The Sears was marketed for about five years.

Hundreds of customers in rural districts bought the Sears. The features claimed were that the high wheels would straddle the high road centers, and that they were therefore better for the farmer than cars with smaller wheels.

The Sears has a two-cylinder opposed engine with double side chain drive. It has oil lamps, lift-hand steering, bulb horn, full elliptic springs and buggy type dash. It sold for $495.

PARADE AFOOT

Crowd Cheers President
Along Route At Kansas City

BY ERNEST B. VACCARO

Kansas City, June 7 (AP)—President Truman led his old comrades of World War in a colorful parade today, leaving his automobile to march the last portion of the uphill route afoot.

While scores of policemen were detailed along the parade route, to maintain order among the cheering crowds, a bandit took the opportunity to hold up the downtown Commerce Trust Company at 10th and Walnut streets, Kansas City's largest bank.

The robber got away with $1,525. General Eisenhower's brother, Arthur, is a vice president of the bank.

The president's walk caught the fancy of the crowd which laughed, clapped and cheered as he stepped along swinging a gift cane.

He was soaked with perspiration when he removed his white Panama hat at the end of the uphill climb and stood in a reviewing stand at Liberty Memorial Hall to watch other units march past.

This event, and a second visit to his bed-ridden, but greatly improved mother at Grandview preceded his major address at 10:03 o'clock (Eastern Standard Time) tonight to the first post-war memorial of the 35th Division, with which he fought in France.

Chico, Calif., June 7 (AP)—The bride is 13, according to school records and the bridegroom is 74. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Longmire are happy and confident of a long married life.

The couple were married last Tuesday at Reno by District Judge William McKnight. The bride, the former June Hogan, said she gave her age as 16 at the ceremony.

TWO HOSPITAL
BABIES KILLED

Marauder Makes Escape
In Thunderstorm,
Leaves No Clues

Massillon, O., June 7 (AP)—A killer who left no clues entered the fourth-floor pediatrics nursery of City hospital and killed the two baby girls he found there, making his escape unnoticed during a heavy thunderstorm, Police Chief Stanley W. Switzer said today.

The two babies died of skull fractures last night shortly after they were discovered by a nurse.

"We have nothing whatsoever to work on," said the chief. No weapons were found. He theorized that the little girls' heads had been struck against a wall or the floor.

The victims were Diane J. Brand, eight weeks old, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Brand, and Rosemary Morton, nine weeks, one of three children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Morton.

Switzer said the killer made his way into the fourth-floor pediatrics ward of the hospital by an unknown route and entered the room to find both babies asleep. He set the time as shortly after 7:35 p. m., during a heavy thunderstorm.

More than 400 Elks delegates and 1,500 visiting Elks are attending the conclave, which ends Sunday.

over a wide area, the storm cut a path varying from four city blocks to about five miles.

It began in northern Summit county (Akron), Ohio, and ended in the vicinity of Mercer, Pa. Areas damaged included Ravenna, Warren, Youngstown, and Niles, all in Ohio, and Sharon, Farrell, Mercer and Grove City, Pa.

Forty persons were hospitalized in Ohio and 45 received hospital treatment at Sharon. Only one was in serious condition at Sharon.

Not a house in a residential area four blocks wide and 15 blocks long in Sharon missed the wrath of the twister. An estimated 100 houses were damaged or wrecked. Mayor Myron Jones estimated 500 were injured there. Most of the injuries were minor.

Large installations hit included the Sharon city incinerator, which was destroyed, the Ravenna, Pa. arsenal, whose ammunition depot was damaged, and the Mercer fairgrounds, which was demolished.

Sheriff William Courtney of Mercer County, Pa., who was driving down a Sharon street when the tornado struck, said:

"I saw pieces of roof, spouting, shingles, boards, debris of all sorts sucked up into the air. Then, all the stuff began falling; it rained debris."

STATE BUDGET
BY 10 MILLIONPOLITICIANS CREDIT
GOVERNOR WITH GOOD PROGRAM

Lansing, Mich., June 7 (AP)—Lansing was a deserted village today.

Legislators started quitting the city the moment after the adjournment at 5:44 a. m., Saturday morning, leaving behind them a record of 396 bills enacted and a budget some $10,000,000 in the red.

By noon Saturday, the city's leading hotel estimated that 165 lawmakers and their followers had checked out of that hotel alone. A few remained sleeping and a very few others kept awake in select hide-aways to argue over legislation that might have been.

The capitol building was deserted except for a skeleton staff and a few workers cleaning up the debris left behind by the legislators.

Both chambers were littered with the aftermath of the all-night session. Desks in both houses were rat's nests of bills, booklets and scattered papers.

Press Room Is Mess

In the House a hat, an umbrella and some representative's car keys were left behind. The Senate chamber was more orderly but on one senator's desk was observed a hastily scribbled notation—"hooray, call boogie."

Outside both chambers attendants were busy packing cartons with papers and records the members of the two houses wanted sent home.

The House press room was strewn with empty beer bottles, cigarette butts and fly-specked paper cups. Half a loaf of bread, intended for sandwiches, was left behind to mould.

Governor Sigler left shortly before noon in a delayed plane flight to Higgins Lake to address an Associated Press meeting. Before his departure Sigler, in separate messages, gave the House a warm pat on the back and extended a formal "good luck" message to the Senate, which had upset many administration plans.

BY JACK I. GREEN

Lansing, June 7 (AP)—The political effects of the 1947 legislature on Michigan and on Governor Sigler were beginning to be assessed today, with both Republican and Democrats claiming the advantage.

The governor, completing the first test of a chief executive, took to the radio Saturday night to express satisfaction with the lawmakers' general results.

His declaration chilled current political reports that at the session end he intended to open a drum-fire of attacks on the Legislature, exposing alleged improper machinations. Observers took his public attitude as a realization that he must live with the lawmakers for another 18 months and faces a special session in January.

Runners' Rescue Bills
(Sigler, in a speech at Higgins Lake, assailed Lt. Gov. Eugene B. Keyes and a "handful" of Senate members as obstructionists. In general, however, he said, he found no serious fault in the Legislature. He addressed the annual state meeting of Michigan Associated Press Editors.)

Politicians were ready to credit Sigler with a better legislative record in his first try than they had expected. They noted also that late in the session he was forced to abandon his determination not to "influence" the Legislature and sent his runners in to rescue failing bills in the best gubernatorial tradition.

Sigler won six of his ten specific proposals for new legislation, a check showed.

In addition, he put across three other so-called administration bills and 14 of 15 departmental measures which he backed directly.

Lobbying Regulated
The Legislature ignored his request that it balance the budget—falling $9,300,000 short of the mark—but the governor said he thought the psychological effect of a slight deficit was worth while.

Of the measures which Sigler asked of the legislature in his major message June 2, he got:

Regulation of lobbying, authority for the lawmakers to charge personal expense accounts (now unlimited).

Stalin Doctrine Takes Shape In
5 Key Countries

BY RELMAN MORIN

Paris, June 7 (AP)—The "Stalin doctrine," Russia's counter to the Truman policy, was taking shape rapidly today in five key countries in the tug of war for Europe. They were Austria, Hungary, Bulgaria, France and Italy.

In Austria one of the leading Austrian Communists in a new political offensive aimed at getting a new government let it be known Russia will never sign a peace treaty with the present moderate regime.

If his statement in truth is backed by Russia it appeared to be a virtual ultimatum to the Austrian people, for without a formal peace the country would seem to have no hope of rebuilding its national life.

In Hungary a Communist coup d'etat overthrew the legally elected small landholders party in a brusque and outright seizure of power.

In Italy armed Communist guerrilla bands were reported to be organizing in the industrial north and anti-American and anti-government demonstrations developed in Rome alleging "American dollar tyranny."

In France, strikes which the government says are Communist-inspired, paralyzed the railways and other vital functions, creating the most dangerous situation the country has known since before the war.

In Bulgaria, the chief leader in the opposition to the communist premier and his government has been deprived of parliamentary immunity and jailed on charges of alleged conspiracy in an apparent effort to suppress the last vestige of opposition.

Answer To Truman
These developments, in the eyes of political observers in Paris, are reflections of the "Stalin doctrine." They regard it as the Soviet answer to President Truman's program of assistance to Greece and Turkey, and the policy being formulated by U. S. Secretary of State Marshall for continent-wide help where the views of east and west have clashed.

Hungarian sources in Paris said today that Hungary must be "written off," temporarily at least, as a positive factor in the contest between European Communists and anti-Communists. They predicted that the new government, with the Communist vice premier Matyas Rakosi as virtual dictator, would encounter underground resistance from "about half the population," but they said there was no possibility of actually ousting the new regime.

The Communist coup, they said, was the direct result of the course of events taken in Europe since President Truman first announced the loans to Greece and Turkey.

HUNTED YOUTHS

Son Wanted In Bludgeon
Slaying Of Detroit
Bar Owner

Detroit, June 7 (AP)—Authorities considered issuance of a murder warrant against two youths sought in the bludgeon slaying of a Detroit bar owner as the boys continued to evade the police dragnet set for them.

Prosecutor James N. McNally reported clues were slim in the search for Edward Small, 17, and William Hungerford, 16, wanted in connection with the murder of Edward's father, John C. Small, 52.

McNally returned from South Bend, Ind., where the elder Small's car was found abandoned, to confer with sheriff detectives and Detroit police on possibility of issuing a formal warrant.

Action was postponed pending another conference Monday. McNally said he did not wish to issue the warrant until the place of murder could be established.

Small's beaten and stabbed body was found Wednesday in the Rouge river in suburban Inkster. It was not known whether he was slain in Detroit, then taken to the river in his car, or murdered near where the body was found.

Police throughout the midwest and in northern Michigan have been alerted to be on the lookout for the missing youths.

Search for the boys shifted to Gary, Ind., late Friday when it was discovered keys belonging to the murdered man had been placed in a mailbox there.

Since then officers have checked reports that two youths answering the description were seen variously near Muncie and Fort Wayne, Ind., Paris, Ill., and near Calumet in Michigan's upper peninsula.

Gambler On Trial
In Macomb County
For Bribe Offers

Mt. Clemens, Mich., June 7 (AP) Mert Wertheimer, identified by authorities as a member of a big-time gambling syndicate, was ordered to trial today on charges of conspiring to bribe Macomb county officials.

Circuit Judge Chester P. O'Hara entered a plea of innocent for Wertheimer after he stood mute and scheduled trial for the June court term which opens next week.

He was indicted Aug. 2, 1946, by the Judge Herman Dehnke one-man jury which accused him, Danny Sullivan, Lincoln Fitzgerald and William H. McKeighan, the latter formerly mayor of Flint, Mich.

Sullivan and Fitzgerald are fighting extradition from Nevada and McKeighan from Florida.

FACTORY CITY OF OTTUMWA
UNDER WATERSCORES STRANDED
ON ROOFTOPS;
7 DROWNED

Ottumwa, Ia., June 7 (AP)—The muddy, swirling Des Moines river claimed at least seven lives in this flood-crippled southeastern Iowa city today and drove more than 16,000 persons from their homes in the rich farm land valley.

As the river rose to a record high and dirty water boiled through second story windows of some homes, Joe Griffin, Red Cross disaster chairman here, estimated that one third of the residents of this city of 32,000 persons were homeless.

Many More Missing
Myron McCaughy, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, reported that rescue workers expected to find a number of bodies in the homes that are now in high water. He said there had been so many calls about missing persons that it was inevitable bodies would be discovered when the water receded.

Five persons drowned when their boat was smashed in the swift current. Herschel Loveless, in charge of flood rescue work, said no attempt would be made to locate the unidentified bodies until the water recedes.

Mrs. Pauline Williamson, 30, Ottumwa, died of shock and exposure enroute to a hospital, and Mrs. Charles Saunders, 58, Ottumwa, drowned when she apparently fell down trying to make her way to safe ground, Loveless said.

McCaughy said that about 2,000 persons had been stranded during the day, and rescue operations were continuing.

Business At Standstill
With the power off, part of the business section under water and such big plants as the John Deere farm equipment and Morrell meat packing plant flooded, business in this industrial city was virtually at a standstill.

Electric light service was restored in most sections at 7 p. m. (EST), more than 20 hours after the power plant became submerged. Service was resumed when electrical crews cleared a short circuit in a cable on a dike at the edge of the city.

Residents obtained drinking water at Red Cross headquarters and various stations located about the city. Fire engines were pumping water from the city's power house, but Homer Darbyshire, manager of the Iowa Southern Utilities, said he had no idea when power could be restored.

H. A. Brown, superintendent of the city waterworks, said the river would have to drop about eight inches before the city could supply its residents with drinking water.

Enough typhoid vaccine to immunize 2,200 persons was flown here from Des Moines.

QUICK MICHIGAN JUSTICE BRAKED
Court Decision Gives
Hope For New Trial
To 874 Lifers

BY ARTHUR W. EVERETT
Detroit, June 7 (AP)—The United States supreme court has put the brakes on Michigan's famed speedy justice and kindled hope in the hearts of the state's 874 life term prisoners.

The state gained national attention over the years for the speed with which it hustled convicted or convicted murderers off to prison.

To a degree, it was Michigan's substitute for the final justice of the electric chair, since the state does not exact capital punishment. Now, however, justice for major criminals has slowed to a walk.

The supreme court granted an obscure, southern Michigan prisoner, Rene De Meerleer, 32, a new trial last February.

The court held that he was deprived of his constitutional rights when he was charged, convicted and sentenced within a single day in 1932 for the holdup slaying of an Adrian, Mich., gasoline station attendant.

The justices further held that De Meerleer should have had an attorney whether or not he requested one.

The new trial is pending.

Scores of lifers have demanded new trials on the basis of the De Meerleer decision, and an unestimated number of such requests are in the making.

Jean Farrell Leader In Miss Hiawathaland Contest; Many Close

The tremendous interest of the people of Escanaba and vicinity in the answer to the question "Who will be Miss Hiawathaland" was made evident by the great outpouring of votes during the first week of the contest.

The first standings made public by the contest committee headed by Chairman James Frenn indicates the contest will be a close one from the beginning down to the end scheduled for June 28.

The leader as of 6 p. m. yesterday when the ballot box located at Festival headquarters, 710 Ludington Street, was opened and ballots counted was Jean Farrell, 920 Sheridan Avenue. But close behind her were Rosemary Derocher, Bark River; Anna Marie Tousignant, 1415 Fourth Avenue South; Helen Johnson, 505 South 16th Street; Helen Schwabach, 511 North 20th Street; and Shirley Baker, 301 South 11th Street.

Delta county girls well up among the leaders for the title of Miss Hiawathaland included Shirley Poquette, Wells; Mary Terrien, Cornell; Ann Bakran, Wells; and Jean Stratton, Gladstone.

Supper Party Tuesday
Miss Hiawathaland is chosen on the basis of popularity. This popularity is determined by the number of votes turned in by and for her during the period ending June 28. Each strip of advance tickets for the pageant spectacle "Hiawathaland Saga" which will be presented at the high school stadium the nights of July 3, 4, 5 and 6, has attached to it a stub which entitles the purchaser of the advance ticket to cast 1500 votes for his or her favorite. These stubs must be filled in with the candidate's name and deposited in the ballot box at Festival headquarters. Press vote coupons appeared in this paper Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Miss Hiawathaland and her attendants, who will be made up of the runners-up to the winner of the contest will preside over all Festival activities. She will be the recipient of many honors during the Festival days. Next Tuesday night, all candidates for the title of Miss Hiawathaland will be the guests of Mrs. Burns and the Delta hotel at a supper party. All candidates are requested to be there by 7:30.

The complete tabulation of the votes in the contest as of 6 p. m. yesterday follows:

Jean Farrell 169,200, Rosemary Derocher 159,440, Ann Marie Tousignant 153,064, Helen Johnson 142,240, Shirley Baker 142,000, Helen Schwabach 142,000, Alta Porath 128,424, Irma Bartley 123,576, June Peterson 111,852, Edna Frossard 111,600, Shirley Poquette 94,604, Jacqueline Courneene 94,600, Beverly Thompson 94,800, Mary Terrien 92,896, Frances Sliva 88,888, Jeanne Groos 88,700, Ann Bakran 88,012, Patsy Ammel 88,000, Mary Ann Anderson 87,000, Lois Sawyer 86,200, Gladys Jefferson 82,200, Mary Ann Gasman 81,380, Marily

May Weather Cold And Wet; Snowfall Makes New Record

The month of May at Escanaba was cold and wet, with an accumulated deficiency in temperature of 125 degrees, and an excess in precipitation of 1.05 inches, according to a summary prepared by the local office of the U. S. Weather Bureau.

The absolute temperature range was 53 degrees, with a low of 25 on the 9th, followed by a high of 78 three days later. The low of 25 was the lowest ever recorded on a May 9. The closest approach was 29 on that date in 1913 and 1945. The lowest on record for any May in Escanaba was 20 on the 2nd, in 1882.

On only one previous May 12 was a temperature of 78 equalled or exceeded. On that date in 1906, 79 was recorded. The absolute high ever recorded in Escanaba was 91 on the 28th in 1914. The warmest May on record was in 1922, with an average temperature of 56, while the coldest was in 1907, with an average of 42. The average for the month just past was 45, while the normal average is 50.

While there were no excessively heavy rains, some form of precipitation fell on all but nine days. The heaviest fall in any one storm was 1.10 inches on the 1st and 2nd. The total for the month was 3.98 inches, while the normal amount is 2.93. The wettest month of May ever recorded in Escanaba was in 1881, when 7.91 inches fell, and the driest was in 1891, when only 0.19 fell.

The snow storm which occurred on the 29th, when 1.5 inches fell, was the heaviest on record for any month of May. Due to the fact that the temperature was above the freezing point during the storm, the snow melted almost as soon as it fell, so that there was no accumulation on the ground.

The highest wind velocity during the month was 35 miles per hour from the north on May 13.

ASTHMA CASES AIDED BY FOOD

Half-Starved Condition Causes Wheezing Of Patient

Atlantic City, N. J., (SS.) — Many a chronic asthma patient goes on wheezing and suffering because he is being half-starved. If he will eat enough of a normal diet, regardless of his food allergies, his asthma symptoms will be relieved.

This finding, contrary to general medical opinion, was reported by Drs. George L. Waldbott and M. M. Harrington of Detroit and Dr. J. J. Shea of Dayton, Ohio, at the meeting here of the American College of Allergists.

Typical of the 56 patients they reported was a 27-year-old woman who had suffered from asthma for seven years. Her case was "one of the most intractable" the doctors had ever seen. Practically every night she had to resort to inhalations of ephedrine and occasionally to hypodermic injections of the drug. Milk, all poultry, most nuts and beans disagreed with her and she had avoided these foods for years.

Last August, when her weight was down to 113 pounds, she was put on a diet of 2600 calories, disregarding all food sensitivities. Within 48 hours she had marked relief from the asthma. Within a week she was entirely free from attacks and had gained four pounds. She said she felt better than at any time for the past three years.

The improvement lasted for six weeks during which time injections to desensitize her to allergy-causing substances continued. Then she began to have slight attacks every second or third night, but these were readily relieved by taking aminophyllin by mouth. In mid-November a cold aggravated the condition and she has had more frequent attacks since then. But they have been much less severe than at any time since 1939. Her weight is now about 136 pounds, a gain of 23 pounds.

100 Bean Pickers Needed In County

One hundred more boys and girls 12 years of age or older are needed to pick beans in Delta county this summer. B. B. Loveland, Delta county emergency farm labor leader, said yesterday. So far about 50 bean pickers have registered and at least 100 more will be required.

Registration can be made through the office of the county agricultural agent in the court house at Escanaba, Loveland explained. Before any boy or girl can be assigned to work they must have their parents sign a consent blank, and these blanks must be turned in to the county agent's office either personally or by mail. If mailed they should be addressed to Mr. Loveland.

Transportation is provided for the pickers to and from the bean fields in the Escanaba area, and the pickers are paid at the rate of 2 cents per pound for the beans they pick. This year there is about twice the acreage planted to beans as there was last year.

Legislature Adjourns

IN the last minute shuffle for adjournment of the Michigan legislature, the state lawmakers made some rather unexpected reversals of previous decisions.

The little community property bill, which previously had been rejected by the house, was adopted by the lawmakers and sent to the governor. A one-cent gasoline tax increase, raising the state tax from three to four cents a gallon, also was adopted, although this proposal also had been previously rejected. Its fate before the governor, however, is still questionable as Gov. Sigler previously had indicated that he was not interested in any new taxes that failed to help solve the state's financial problem. The new tax will provide some additional funds for municipalities and county road commissions, but none for the state.

In still another reversal of a previous decision, the senate decided to place the question of a constitutional revision before the people in the November, 1948, election. This action has been proposed by many people who believe that the state's present constitution is outmoded and unduly complicated with a long list of amendments adopted from time to time.

Although the full import of last minute decisions of the legislature before adjournment early Saturday morning still await clarification, it is apparent that the legislature failed to provide a balanced budget and postponed some important financial decisions until another year. The existence of a deficit in the year ahead is the direct result of the sales tax distribution amendment which deprived the state of revenue it needs to operate its essential services.

Wanted: Labor Statesman

JOHN L. Lewis is demanding a wage boost of 35 cents an hour for his coal miners but he says nothing about increased production, nor increased efficiency.

Except for the extravagance of his demands, Lewis is following the pattern that has characterized all wage increases in recent years. The only wage boosts that really are profitable for workers are those that are predicated upon more production. Otherwise, wage increases are reflected in higher prices.

Many commodities have already been priced out of the market because their cost of manufacture have been higher than the consuming public will absorb. Labor's continual demands for wage increases without compensating increases in production and efficiency are responsible in so small degree for this condition.

The American standard of living is the highest in the world simply because our industrial methods and our worker efficiency produce more goods than anywhere else in the world. We stand to jeopardize this successful system when we fail to gear large wage increases, which mean higher production costs, with comparable increases in production.

The labor leader who is willing to talk about production increases instead of "featherbedding" will be doing a great service to the American workers. He will show them the way to higher wages without higher prices. In short, he will point the way for a better standard of living.

Sweden Needs Our Help

SWEDEN, who was a neutral in the late war, and who extended a helping hand to needy neighbors, now finds herself facing a food shortage. After the wars of thousands of starving Finnish and Norwegian children were brought to Sweden and nourished back to health, but today a real food shortage is developing in this land of the Good Samaritan.

The Swedish bread ration of five and one-half ounces daily may have to be cut before this year's crop is in, according to the International Food Commission. Sweden is now listed as one of the European countries in which a condition of emergency exists. The country cannot solve its food problems alone, and it needs food shipments from outside.

The Scandinavian nations are clearly at the top of civilization in Europe. The famous peace pact of the Swedes, Danes, Finns and Norwegians is a model of common sense. It pledges the four nations never to go to war with each other for any reason whatsoever, reasons of national honor not excepted.

Fred Bradley's Last Words

A FEW days before his death at New London, Connecticut, Congressman Fred Bradley prepared a radio broadcast for release Monday, June 2. His remarks pay a high tribute to the United States Coast Guard.

He said, in part: "I wonder how many of our citizens truly appreciate what the world's mightiest ice-crusher, the Coast Guard cutter Mackinaw, means to us in the northland. If it had not been for this champion of the lakes, our 1947 navigation season, in all probability, would not have opened until May 1.

"The Mackinaw is much more than an ice-breaker. She engages in rescue work twelve months in the year, services light-houses, puts out and picks up other aids to navigation, such as heavy buoys; and each summer serves as a training ship, giving navigation training to the graduating class of the Coast Guard Academy at New London.

"I keep a scrapbook on the Mackinaw. Having sponsored the legislation which made possible her construction, I feel a fatherly interest in her, and I like to closely follow her work in our midst and the efforts of her splendid officers and crew. While all the Coast Guard vessels on the lakes have performed exceptionally well, the work of the Mackinaw has been outstanding because of her inherent qualities.

"There can be nothing but praise for the ability of her commanding officer, Commander C. H. Stober, and for the efficiency of the other officers and the members of the crew. Commander T. A. Dahlberg at the Soo has been, as always, extremely co-operative and able in supervising operations at that critical point."

National Taxpayer Week

BY proclamation of a private citizen in Oklahoma, the week of June 8 to 14 inclusive, has been established as "National Taxpayer Week." It's not exactly an original idea since there have already been something like 65 weeks (out of a total of only 52 in a year) set aside to commemorate this, that and the other thing during 1947.

Nevertheless, it is refreshing to find in this country a private citizen who is willing to take the initiative in a nationwide movement to stop the federal waste and extravagance that has resulted in the cost of federal government running higher than the cost of food for the American people.

The response of the American people to this call to action from a private citizen will determine whether or not we shall continue wartime spending into 1948. During National Taxpayer Week, American citizens all over the country are encouraged to write to their congressmen and senators calling their attention to the need of economy in government. At the same time, the American people are reminded that in order to accomplish reductions in federal spending for which they are clamoring, they must also sacrifice the non-essential services that have helped to skyrocket the cost of government.

Obviously we cannot hope to accomplish any substantial reduction in governmental expenditures if we persist in running to Washington every time a cut hits home. We cannot plead for economies affecting the other fellow but not ourselves.

HOME VS. "HOLLYWOOD"

(Christian Science Monitor)

What to do about Hollywood's influence on children is a recurrent question among parents. It had a good answer the other night. On America's Town Meeting of the Air a member of the audience put it to one of the speakers. The reply came: "Take the trouble to set standards in the home; these will protect children from the contagion of false values which menaces them so often at movies."

A reverent, deep, and practical sense of religion; the Golden Rule taught by example as well as reminder. These are first needs. Matters of taste follow. But they are important, too. Good taste and morals are not necessarily synonymous. But good taste, if often a second line of defense, is a protection against the crude and superficial which often mislead young people into acceptance of even more destructive influences.

But the time and the effort! Yes, it takes both. Yet most of us are putting time and effort into less direct attacks on the problem. Often parents depend on membership in some community club or other organization to do the work they must do mostly in the home itself. Often the donation to a society for dealing with juvenile problems or for caring for underprivileged children takes the place of hard effort to make sure that one's own children are getting all the privileges—the intimate understanding, the patient guidance—that is their due.

That is one answer to "Hollywood." We put the words in "quotes" because Hollywood can be a fine influence as well as a destructive one, and will be better perforce and with enthusiasm when the standards set in the home are high enough and firm enough.

After all these years of trying, you'd think at least one American city could get all its downtown streets torn up at once.

SUNDAY CATCHALL

San Marino: We are planning to purchase a tester bed for my room. My mother says that decorators pronounce tester to rhyme with "feaster." Is that correct?—C. A.

Answer: No. Tester (from Old French testiere, "a head covering") should rhyme with "jester, nester." A tester bed is one having a canopy and hangings.

Q. On the radio I heard the word requiring pronounced "ree-KWIT-ing," the second syllable like the word "quit." Am I right in thinking that the "i" should be long?—Mrs. H. A. M.

Answer: Yes. Requite, requital, requited, requiting, requiter, etc., should have the long "i" sound as heard in "by, my, why," thus: ree-KWY-ting.

Atlantic City: Recently I came across the word "speleologist." What does it mean and how is it pronounced?—G. F.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—The Bureau of Internal Revenue is looking into what may be a sizable loophole in our antiquated, overgrown federal tax structure. It is also the channel through which tax-exempt money is sluiced into leftist political organizations on a scale that may be surprisingly large.

From a political point of view, the current inquiry cuts both ways. It is also aimed at certain so-called foundations into which great wealth has been put. The treasury wants to know whether the foundations are a cloak for private ownership and control.

Several foundations operate large manufacturing concerns. Most of the shares in the Ford Motor Co. were left by the late Henry Ford to a foundation.

The provision in the law granting tax exemption to educational and charitable foundations says the money shall not be spent for political purposes. At least that is what the lawmakers intended to say. But the language is so broad that it can mean what a given court interprets it to mean.

—LEFTISTS WELL-HEELED—

It says that "no substantial portion" of the funds from the foundation shall be used to influence legislation or to carry on propaganda. That is a door half open, and a clever lawyer can help his client to slip through it.

There has been speculation for some time on the source of generous sums spent by fellow-traveling organizations. They buy full-page advertisements in the newspapers, and in many instances they make large political contributions on an off-record basis in order to try to swing critical elections. In one congressional district last fall, at least $50,000 is said to have been sent in from outside, a large part of it from organizations with high-sounding political names.

With income-tax rates at the present high level, it has been difficult to get political contributions, which under the law are not tax exempt. But if the contributor is shown how to channel his donation through a tax-exempt foundation, then he may loosen up.

One of the big sources of left-wing money has been Hollywood, where some stars and some highly paid writers feel the pangs of conscience and seek to quiet them by signing handsome checks. The treasury is examining certain movie returns to determine whether large claimed exemptions are in violation of the law.

Now and then the Bureau of Internal Revenue revokes the tax-exempt privilege. An organization known as PAC for Palestine bought paid advertisements urging congress to defeat the British loan when the loan was before Congress. This seemed to be contrary to the law and the tax-exempt privilege was revoked.

—LAW BEING STRETCHED—

There are at least a half million tax-exempt organizations. This includes every local of a trade union. It includes the income from rental-producing properties owned by some unions? It includes religious organizations. At least 10,000 tax-exempt foundations are approved by the treasury and the number may be nearer 15,000.

Evidence is accumulating to show that business concerns are stretching the law, and the treasury means to find out if they have broken it. In one large eastern city, several departments stores sold the buildings they occupied to universities.

Property values had deteriorated and they could claim an outright capital loss. Then they signed a 99-year lease with the university to occupy the building as they had always done. The university did not, of course, need to charge a high rent since the rental from the building, as received by an educational institution, is not taxable. This may have been all perfectly legal but the treasury wants to make sure of it.

In the process of cutting off the budgetary nose to spite the democratic face, the Republicans in the house slashed the appropriation of the Bureau of Internal Revenue by $25,000,000. Audit of the vast number of wartime income-tax returns had already been spread dangerously thin. A senate committee restored $20,000,000 of the cut.

If the funds for the bureau are cut very much under the level for the current year, it will be an invitation to the chiselers to forget the law. Such a cut is likely to mean a net loss to the government, for the bureau in the past has run up a remarkable record of collecting from tax evaders a lot more than it spent on the collection process.

word is from the Greek spelaion, "cave." Speleologist is pronounced: SPEE-lee-OLL-uh-jist.

Houston: Is there such a word as "zenophobia"? If so, is it derived from the proper name Zenobia?—L. C. P.

Answer: "Zenophobia" is seen occasionally; but it is an erroneous spelling of the word xenophobia, "hatred or aversion to foreign customs, people, etc." It is pronounced: ZEN-uh-FOE-bee-uh. It has no connection with the name Zenobia which means "having life from Zeus."

Q. A mother said to her married daughter, "You have too many clothes on that baby—he is sweating." The daughter said, "Mother, never, never use the word sweat! Say perspiration." Please comment.—W.

Answer: In no way is sweat an improper word. Does not the bible say: "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread?" Does not every woman's wardrobe include at least one sweater—a garment worn originally to induce sweating? Objection to sweat is a relic of the euphemistic days of the Victorian era when leg, for instance, was such a naughty word that pianos, tables, and chairs had limbs!

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

PART OF THE JOB—One night a week or more ago John Luenenberg of 718 South 16th street, driver for a local cab company, was driving on Sheridan road in the vicinity of the ore docks when he saw the figure of a man clinging to a cross-member of the dock trestle where it crosses above the highway.

Luenenberg stopped his taxi, got out, scrambled up the dock timbers with their heavy coating of red dust and brought the man to the ground. Luenenberg is a war vet, saw service in Italy, Germany and France.

On the way to town in the taxi, the rescued man explained how he had come to be in such a perilous place, hanging by three fingers. He and two shipmates from the ore carrier Clement Reis were walking on the ore dock, and were a little high in more ways than one. In the darkness he became separated from his companions and fell from the dock trestle, clutching a cross bar, but could not get up or down. He was rapidly tiring and ready to let go his handhold when Luenenberg rescued him.

Besides thanking Luenenberg, the sailor offered to replace the taxi driver's suit of clothes, which were badly torn and soiled when he climbed up and down the ore dock timbers.

FRIGHTENED BUT BRAVE—We see by the papers that a Santa Monica, Calif., hotel keeper wants helicopter operators to keep away from the roof of his hotel, where he has a solarium for sun bathers. He charges that aerial preening toms cause consternation among his guests. If the guests would just get up to the beach for their sunning not an eyelash would flicker. But perhaps that's getting too close to the water.

AN ADDED HAZARD—Among the dangers that wildlife encounters in addition to its natural enemies are man-made contraptions. Such as fences, says Gene Hesterberg of Escanaba, district game biologist for the conservation department.

Just across the road from the DeBacher ranch three miles north of Watson a big buck became entangled in a woven wire fence and died.

"The deer apparently reached through the fence thinking the grass more tasty on the other side. Its antlers, which measured only three and one-half inches long, had just recently started growing, but they had grown just long enough that the buck could not free himself," Jean said.

A week or so earlier the antlers would have been too small to have gotten caught in the fence. A week or so later they would have grown large enough that the buck couldn't have stuck his head through the fence. Conditions were just right, and there will be one less buck this fall for hunters in the Watson area.

THE CAPTAIN'S WHISTLE—Mrs. Estella Bergeson of Ensign writes to recount an amusing incident of early days at Kates Bay near Garden.

"One day last summer some children who boarded here at Butler's Beach during vacation called at my house. The older ones were talking about storms they had in their states—wind and rain and hail. Then I told them about a storm that happened quite a long time ago when I lived with my parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sexton, at Kates Bay," Mrs. Bergeson wrote.

"The wind and rain came up out of the west, and while it did not last long it was quite severe. Just as it started we heard Captain McCauley's daily boat blow for Nahma across the bay. When the storm was over our neighbor, Dayton Beardley, who lived a quarter mile north of us, came down to see how we were talking. My mother said, 'I wonder if the boat got across the bay.' As she spoke we heard the boat blow for Van's Harbor two miles south of our place. Dayton laughed and said, 'Well at least the captain came ashore with the whistle, all right.'"

"The older children seemed to understand, but with the others I had to do some explaining. 'If the old Captain were living I believe it would make him smile.'"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—The final decision to sell arms to President Peron of Argentina and to oust Peron's enemy, Spruille Braden, as assistant secretary of state probably will go down in history as one of the most momentous the United States has made in many years. It was attended by some soul-searching conferences inside the state department with Braden lined up on one side and various military advisers on the other.

Because the decision was so important, it may be well to review some of the backstage arguments put forward by both sides.

Chief point which big, burly Spruille Braden made to Secretary Marshall was that the United States and Argentina enjoyed perfectly normal relations in every possible way except one—namely the United States declined to sell Peron arms. We exchange ambassadors. We buy all the goods Argentina will sell us except fresh meat. And we have unfrozen all Argentine credits in the United States. However, argued Braden, Argentina is a dictatorship suspected by other Latin-American neighbors of having designs on their territory. Therefore, the United States should not increase her power by selling arms.

Others of Marshall's advisers, especially his old friends in the War Department, maintained that if the United States is to build up an Anti-Soviet bloc in the western hemisphere it must cooperate with the Argentine army and navy.

Braden, in turn, brought out a copy of the Argentine 5-year plan, a highly illuminating document, indicating that President Peron planned to set up a vigorous Fascist state right under the nose of the Pan American Union.

Braden also pointed out that Peron had trained for a time under Roberto Farinacci, Secretary General of the Italian Fascist party, and that two of his chief supporters were Ludwig Freude, a German Nazi, and Heinrich Doerge, former adviser to Hjalmar Schacht.

—PERON'S 5-YEAR PLAN—

The Peron 5-year plan, which Braden condensed for General Marshall's study, is a sweeping blueprint to build up Argentina as the most powerful military nation in South America. It calls for stepping up the Argentine birth rate, control of all raw materials in South America, dispersal of Argentine industry as a protection against bombing, intensive experimentation in atomic laboratories, control of the judiciary and other suppressive measures.

Braden also pointed out that the 5-year plan was not merely a document on paper, but actually was being put into effect. Here are some of the 5-year steps Peron already has taken:

1. Control of the Judiciary—Four out of five judges on the Argentine Supreme Court already have been impeached. Peron did not even give them a trial. The fifth judge was a Peron stooge. Scores of other lesser judges have been ousted.

2. Control of Education—Peron has already fired 700 professors from national universities. He has also placed six national universities, hitherto centers of pro-democratic thought, under the control of six specially selected Pro-Peron rectors. Finally, he has established his own national council of education with authority to run all primary and secondary schools. This is the pattern followed by Hitler and Mussolini when they came into power.

3. Control of Labor—The Confederation General De Trabajadores, largest labor union in Argentina, has been taken over by Peron. No strike can be called if Peron opposes. Union men calling a strike are summarily fined, in some cases jailed.

—FREEDOM OF PRESS ? ?—

4. Control of Press—While there is official Freedom of the Press, Peron exercises powerful indirect control by his supervision of newsprint, his influence over newspaper labor unions, and the practice of levying large fines on hostile newspapers which violate official ordinances.

5. Control of Movies and Radio—The Argentine government now owns the two largest radio stations in the country. All other stations are required to submit advance radio scripts on political questions for censorship. Several motion-picture houses have been closed for showing pictures which violate official ordinances.

6. Secret Police—Peron has established his own secret police, based on the Nazi Gestapo agents are on the lookout for anyone hostile to the Peron regime. Result is that some of the top officers of the Navy who were too "independent" have been dismissed.

7. Argentine Expansion—In addition to increasing the Argentine birth rate, the Peron 5-year plan calls for selective immigration from Europe. Peron has sent two special commissions to Spain and Italy to select a "racially pure" immigrants. His goal is to increase Argentina's population from its present 14,000,000 to 100,000,000 in the next 50 years.

These were some of the things Braden put before Marshall and Truman in arguing that the United States could not afford to sell arms to a potentially Fascist nation. In the end, he was overruled, chiefly on the ground that the United States needed a solid hemisphere against Russia and that not even Argentina could be left out of that solidarity.

Making trouble is too much trouble to be much fun.

Houses made of pressed earth have stood up a hundred years or more—and why not? So have hills.

Eleven Yokohama Japs were fined from 20,000 to 30,000 yen for unlawfully purchasing American cigarettes. They probably have no yen left—for smoking.

As a special feature, the Grand Aerie has promised the member who brings in the most applications for this June initiation class a 10-karat gold ring and the Aerie has promised another special prize for every member who brings in a new member.

Following the initiation a social program will be given.

A banquet will be served at 6:30 p. m. to all members, and their wives or mothers.

A Father's Day Ball will be given in the evening with Al Steede furnishing the music.

Secretary Werner A. Olson said he would like to have applications for all new members turned in on Tuesday evening, June 10, so they can be balloted upon.

Sky Writer Leaves His Message 12,000 Feet Over Escanaba

That fancy bit of sky writing over Escanaba about 6 yesterday evening was the work of Henry A. Laird, of Miami, Fla., former Navy pilot, who spelled out the letters P-E-P-S-I C-O-L-A at about 12,000 feet.

Laird, who works out of Milwaukee and will perform also in Menominee, Iron River and Marquette in the U. P., is flying a BT-13, an Army surplus plane. The letters are said to be visible 20 to 25 miles.

Laird's plane was especially equipped to give off a heavy smoke compounded of a secret formula of oil, chemicals and gas. This smoke is injected into the exhaust under pressure and when the pilot pulls a lever in the cockpit, the vapor escapes and leaves a legible trail.

The trick has been done so often that Laird said he could write it with his eyes shut. As a matter of fact, he does it upside down and backwards, but to Escanaba residents, of course, it appeared correctly.

YOU ARE JUST WASTING TIME

If You Are Working Only For Living, Says Seagram Head

New York (SS.)—If the only reason you work is "to make a living," you are wasting your talent, H. F. Wilkie, vice president of Joseph E. Seagram and Sons, Inc., today told members of the American Management Association meeting here.

Only in a limited or figurative sense do we actually have to work in order to live, said Mr. Wilkie, since our living is almost guaranteed by the system under which we live.

If you have other reasons for working, you are rich indeed, rich in proportion to the degree in which these answers give you a deep, abiding sense of satisfaction, Mr. Wilkie contended.

"There is a vague but widely accepted feeling that the worker must escape from his work, must compensate for his boredom with synthetic thrills," Mr. Wilkie said. "This in itself should be enough to indict our system, for how can a man express himself more fully than through his work? It seems to me that any man who does day after day a job which he hates, which requires compensation, which so deadens his senses that he must escape from it nightly, is a fool."

"It is possible to make a living at almost anything; one might as well work at something he likes, even if the financial return is low. But the truth is that if he likes it well enough, if he brings to it all of his faculties and his cunning, if he lives his work, in short, if it will not only reward him with a rich and satisfying life; it usually pays him a much greater financial return than he could ever have had as a slave of dull routine, as a marionette of the system."

A time when work will be bootlegged by those who find it satisfying was pictured by Mr. Wilkie, speaking with his tongue in his cheek. When retirement on social security becomes compulsory—as it soon may be—at the age of

U. P. Winter Sports Council Will Meet Today In Caspian

George Grenholm, city recreation director, will represent Escanaba at the Upper Peninsula Winter Sports Council meeting at the Red Diamond resort at Caspian today.

Registration will open at 10:30, and afternoon and evening meetings are scheduled. Grenholm, George Bishop, Marquette, secretary-manager of the U. P. Development bureau, and J. Lee Barrett, tourist executive from Detroit, will lead a discussion on bringing the Winter Olympics to the U. P. in 1952.

Winter sports carnival dates will be set. The council also may act on Wakefield's bid to hold the Queen of the North contest in 1948.

Lepers In India Are Public Menace

Bombay, India (AP)—G. H. Deshpande, member of the Bombay provincial legislative assembly from the holy city of Nasik, told his legislator colleagues in debate recently that because the police are afraid to touch a leper lest they become "contaminated," hundreds of lepers roam at large there and many actually sell vegetables to the public.

Deshpande stated, it will be illegal to work after that age. At that time embarrassed machinists will slide up to industrial tax-evaders and propose, "I'll give you $50 a week if you'll let me work on the Q. T. in your machine shop."

The man who makes things only for money never gets any more than money; the other fellow gets the pleasure and the understanding. The employee should know not only how products are manufactured, but how the results of his efforts are used and why they are important. Work must offer an outlet for expressing and developing the natural creative urges. Aside from the economic security which they think they get, people like a sense of control, real or fancied. They like to feel that what they are doing is important.

Zigman Harp, 67, Dies At Family Home In Wilson

Bark River, June 7 — Zigman Harp, 67, died at 5 this afternoon at the family home in Wilson, Route 1, after a year's illness.

Mr. Harp was born Dec. 16, 1880. He came to this country with his parents at the age of nine and resided in Maderia, Pa., West Frankfort, Ill., and Chicago before moving to Wilson, at which time he moved from Maderia to West Frankfort. He lived in Chicago 22 years before coming to Wilson.

Besides his wife, he leaves two sons, Paul, Chicago, and Henry of Wilson; four daughters, Mrs. Charles Ehmke, Bark River, Mrs. John Hoes and Mrs. George Westfall, both of Chicago, and Mrs. Charles Janowick, Hollywood, Calif.; two brothers, Joseph C. of West Frankfort, and Michael of Maderia; a sister, Mrs. Joseph Savage, Carbondale, Ill., and seven grandchildren.

The body was taken to the Boyle funeral home here. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Demanding better facilities for the care of lepers and stronger efforts to isolate them, he estimated there are 1,200 lepers in his city, which has a population of less than 100,000.

Nasik is known as a holy city because it is the source of the sacred Godavari River, and Hindu mythology identifies it as the place where the holy figure of Lakshmana cut the nose from the face of a female demon. Roughly, Nasik means "nosy place."

BOUND FOR EUROPE—Miss Mary Ellen Alexander of the English department of Senior high school will travel through Europe this summer on a bicycle with the American Youth Hostel.

With a group of 15 university students, who have had language and hospital experience, Miss Alexander will leave New York June 16. They will go to Belgium first to spend a month assisting with reconstruction of a hospital. Afterwards they will spend another month biking through greater Europe. She left this morning to spend a few days at her home in Minneapolis after which she will proceed to Northfield, Mass., for final details.

Upon her return to the United States this fall Miss Alexander will enroll for further study at the University of Minnesota.

Hank Louma Polishes Pebbles Into Jewels

Hank, his family, and the boys will be glad to see you, if you get up their way this summer. Their warm welcome greets all Northern Peninsular visitors who stop at the Keweenaw Agate Shop.

This famous Michigan "rockologist" lives in the shadow of Hecla's giant Ahmeek Mine, near Calumet, and beyond a doubt his is one of America's oldest factories.

The factory is a bed, and Hank Louma, Michigan's pebble tycoon, sits there polishing and finishing semiprecious native stones into handsome, stylized jewelry. The stones he works are those "pretty little rocks" tourists find along trails and beaches.

An expert in this line, he speaks of the small fortune in stones we kick in the dust each day of our lives, little knowing their worth or beauty. Professionally known as a lapidarist, he began collecting stones as a hobby over ten years ago. Obtaining a small grinding and polishing machine he had it set up alongside his bed beginning a business that has gained him a widespread reputation. Now tourists by the thousands visit Hank's little Keweenaw Agate Shop, marveling at the beauty of his work, the creative artistry of his designs.

Known by fellow townspeople in the community of Ahmeek as the living definition of ambition, his energy and courage have brought him everything that would normally have been denied a man in his position.

Hank's amazing story begins back in 1928. An injury suffered in a mining accident made it necessary for him to rely on crutches to get about. He found easier jobs, but they exhausted his small, pain-riddled body. Slipping one day, he fell downstairs, and had to take to his bed for good with a permanently twisted spine.

As Hank puts it: "The world was a poor place. Nothing in it was worth a smile, so I stopped smiling. By 1932 every joint in my body was locked tight. I didn't want to see anyone. I just lived, reading, eating, sleeping, waiting for the end, but it never came."

Then he began to think about himself. "One day the thought struck me. I had been lying this way for five years! Five years of my life positively wasted! Then and there I decided to turn over a new leaf."

Hank did more than that—he turned to his work of polishing stones and made himself self-supporting.

His factory is an interesting stopping place for visitors to Michigan's Upper Peninsula. There they meet Hank and his family... his wife and steadfast partner, who has worked with him in building their happiness, and their little girl, Patricia. They also meet his two assistants... both disabled war veterans.

If you're heading north this year, save those odd little pebbles for Hank Louma's talented fingers. You may have some that are really worth while. In exchange for a dollar each, Hank will return them as things of beauty and charm, polished and ready to set in a mounting.—From Buick Magazine.

Mineral Wealth Of India Exaggerated

New Delhi, India—The quarterly Indian Minerals says India is "not 'enormously' rich in minerals as is sometimes declared quite confidently" although her mineral resources "are not negligible and encompass a sufficient range of useful materials that are necessary to make a country more or less industrially self-contained."

The publication also commented that "except for a few minerals such as iron ore, mica, aluminum ore, titanium and thorium ores, India's mineral deposits are of a decidedly limited extent, and need a policy of strict conservation and planned utilization in the interest of future national needs."

India has to depend largely or entirely on foreign imports for such strategic items as tin, tungsten, lead, zinc, nickel, graphite and the liquid fuels, Indian Minerals added. However, neighboring Burma has tin, tungsten, lead, zinc, petroleum and some silver, nickel and antimony while Ceylon has big reserves of the world's finest graphite.

Boston Has Library Of Family History

BY FRED BRADY

Boston—On Beacon Hill you can stand and see not all the cities in the world but who lives in many of them and who used to live there. Miss Marion Swimm can show you.

In a room dim with quiet, a few steps from the state house, Miss Swimm is librarian for the books of many cities and towns here and abroad—19,000 volumes full of the names and addresses of people who live, or once lived, in them.

Miss Swimm thinks it's the largest library of directories in the nation. It is kept by the New England Historic Genealogical Society in what was once an old inn next door to the society's rooms.

The library is open to the public every morning and Miss Swimm says: "We're never rushed, but people do seem to come in bunches to look up things every once in a while."

Lawyers checking on missing heirs or family details make up most of her visitors. But there are many others. Like the man who spent days studying old directories of Brooklyn.

"He didn't say exactly why," Miss Swimm reports, "but he was quite excited when he found what he was looking for. It had something to do with disproving some person's claim to an inheritance, and I gathered that finding that Brooklyn address meant quite a lot of money for him."

"It's really surprising," she says, "the thrill some people get out of finding things here. A little old lady will jump right up from her chair and say — 'just look at what I've found. So and so did live there just as grandmother said.'"

Oldest directory in the library is one of Boston in 1789, and others range up the years across countries of Europe as well as America.

Miss Swimm can help you find old families or friends from Canada to the West Riding of Yorkshire.

If you're wondering about Boston ancestors some of the old directories will show you what they did for a living and even how many slaves they kept. The Bostonian directory on page 390 lists "people of color."

Edward Guindon

Miss Helen VanLister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William VanLister, of 509 South Tenth street, and Edward J. Guindon of Schaffer, son of Leo Guindon, spoke their marriage vows in a ceremony which took place Tuesday morning, June 3, at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's church.

Rev. Fr. Thomas Ruppe was celebrant of the nuptial high mass. Attending the couple were Mrs. Leonard Nelsen, a sister of the bride, and Ernest Guindon, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a dressmaker suit of powder blue with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Nelsen's suit was of gold shade and her accessories, brown, and pink roses were used in her corsage. Mrs. VanLister, the bride's mother, wore a leaf green ensemble with a contrasting shoulder bouquet of purple sweet-peas.

A wedding dinner for twenty guests was served at the Log Cabin, the tiered wedding cake and spring flowers forming the table decorations.

The couple left on a two weeks' honeymoon trip through Wisconsin, Illinois and Lower Michigan. They will make their home in Escanaba. The bride, a graduate of St. Joseph high school, is a member of St. Francis hospital staff. Mr. Guindon is a teacher in the Schaffer school.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Blanche Guindon and Lennis Guindon, of Chicago; and Mrs. M. Fassbender and Helen Fassbender, of Marquette.

der attack in the courts) a commission on economic development and repeal of the state planning commission, a bill placing before the voters in 1948 a constitutional revision, placing on the same ballot the repeal of the sales tax diversion amendment, and separation of the department of labor and workmen's compensation commission.

He failed to get: Pensions for judges, a ban on the sale of political influence and a prohibition against legislators representing clients before state agencies.

GOP Not Downcast

Certain other bills passed by the Legislature technically were Sigler measures. Recommended by the governor, they were either those any governor would have submitted or were developed by others. These included: Bonus legislation, a child labor law revision, extension of state federal over insurance to avoid federal regulation. One departmental bill, creating a water resources commission was defeated despite the governor's backing.

In his message Sigler asked for action on four subjects, but did not follow through by submitting bills. These were for a single labor department aid to county fairs, agricultural grading laws and provision for armory facilities.

Three bills which the governor did not mention in his messages were passed with executive office help. They were: Repeal of the mail tax, turning the state juvenile institution over to the welfare department and abolition of the five-man public service commission.

The Democrats expressed belief the Republicans had harmed themselves for the 1948 presidential and state elections, but the G.O.P. leaders around the Capitol were not downcast, at least publicly.

NO SMASHING SUCCESS

Lansing, Mich., June 7 (P)—The 1947 Michigan legislature adjourned one of its longest regular sessions in 80-odd years at 5:44 a. m. today with a $9,300,000 gap still showing between income and outlay in the budget for the next fiscal year.

Despite enactment of 396 bills, and addition of almost $20,000,000 in new revenues, lawmakers were agreed the session fell far short of a smashing success.

Stopping the clock at midnight, the heavy-lidded legislators voted $203,300,000 worth of appropriations for the next fiscal year and constructed a legal framework that would produce $193,926,667 in revenues.

The new revenues are expected to come in the form of $18,000,000 a year from a three-cent-a-pack cigarette tax, a $500,000 tax on power boats exceeding 16 feet in length, a $1,000,000 boost in the racing tax, and $400,000 a year by means of a diversion of the oil and gas severance tax to the state general fund.

Powered by House insistence, a $51,705,633 school-aid bill was approved, which would establish a "single, state-wide school district." Creation of the single district would permit charging $9,220,265 in general educational costs to the public school bill.

Finances Improved

Schools, as a result, will receive some $96,000 a year and not $114,000,000 as was expected under the diversion amendment.

The slash in liquor discounts to bars was set at $1,000,000 and another $12,000,000 was billed to motorists through a one cent per gallon hike in the gasoline tax. Half of the increase was earmarked for municipalities on a population basis and the other half to the county road commissions.

A five cents a gallon tax was set on diesel motor fuels with the expectation of raising $600,000. By way of a silver lining, lawmakers pointed out that the $9,300,000 deficit left by the 1947 legislature was a great improvement over the predicted $83,000,000 figure mentioned by state fiscal officials shortly after the tax diversion amendment was passed.

Most were agreed a good portion of that deficit would be wiped out if retail business continued at a steady pace in the next fiscal year, starting July 1.

Estimates for next year's take under the sales tax amendment ranged up to $140,000,000, some them. Every member of every committee has done a good job." The Governor, in a question-and-answer session, predicted the state deficit would range from $7,000,000 to $9,000,000 by the end of the 1948 fiscal year.

He said: "I haven't been able to figure out just yet how the compromise on the liquor tax and failure to pass the intangible tax will figure in the estimate of the final deficit."

Results Summed Up
Referring to the actions of the recent legislature, the Governor made the following comments on some of the bills just passed:

Labor legislation—"We passed a pretty good bill. We've gone farther than I thought we would."

Workmen's compensation—"Certain radical elements have had considerable to do in the operation of this law and quite a bit of pressure has been put on to reappoint all the present board."

School aid bill—"I haven't seen the final conference report but I think they've done a fairly good $16,000,000 short of this year's, but all agreed the figure could be exceeded.

Among other measures approved was one adding a three-cent-a-gallon tax on marine fuels and another allotting $3,200,000 each to the University of Michigan and Michigan State college. The school appropriations were in keeping with a promise by last year's legislature to enable them to continue emergency construction programs.

No specific grant was made to pay the yearly $18,000,000 on the veterans' bonus.

job. It's a very difficult thing and very controversial."

Lobbyists—"The lobbying bill is stricter than the one I presented and a better one."

Sigler praised the work of many lobbyists in Lansing and said they distributed information helpful to the legislators. He declared however, that the activities of a few were open to criticism.

The Governor said he was still undecided toward the proposal to increase the gasoline tax.

Many Indian Legends Told In Hiawathaland

Home of the Indian long before the coming of the white man, it is not natural that the Upper Peninsula should abound in Indian legend and folk-lore. Known to everyone is the tale of "Hiawatha" by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow but little known outside of this territory is the story of the courtship of a beautiful daughter of an Indian chief and a French trading post attaché.

Years ago, situated on an Indian trail running from the north end of the Peninsula to Menominee, was a trading post with a young Canadian Frenchman as attaché, a man of strong physique and soldierly bearing, quite typical of the early pioneer type. One bright June day as this young man was leisurely strolling along the trail, his attention was attracted by the appearance of a beautiful Indian maid quietly reposing beneath an elm tree, unobserved. The maid seemingly oblivious of her surroundings, he drew near and accosted her in her native tongue.

She was Princess Monee, daughter of Standing Wolf, a stalwart and mighty warrior. Much astonished at being addressed by this white man in her native tongue Monee arose and they soon engaged in conversation. By her permission, he accompanied her to her father's home. On arrival, Chief Standing Wolf was reluctant to permit a white man to enter his royal abode. After a few pleading words spoken by Monee, however, he consented and there followed a happy courtship between the young Indian princess and LaDazzelle, the youthful Canadian trader.

The fact that LaDazzelle could speak the Indian tongue fluently, coupled with his ability to take part in athletic games of young braves, he soon became favorite among the Indians but, unknown to him he had a rival in the person of Flaming Arrow, a young brave who sought favor in an effort to win the fair princess.

Eventually, LaDazzelle became adopted into the tribe and, as was the custom in those days, a grand celebration of the event took place among them.

One hot July day as Monee and LaDazzelle were gliding down the Sturgeon river in their birch canoe the river appeared to be a silver mirror while its banks were profusely strewn with wild flowers and fringed with green foliage. It appeared charming and as they glided down its course, the entire surroundings seemed filled with enchantment, when suddenly the report of a gun sounded in the hot afternoon air and LaDazzelle fell forward in the boat, seriously but not fatally wounded. He nevertheless managed to arise and went ashore only to hear a rustling of leaves and the muffled imprecations of Flaming Arrow as he retreated. With the assistance of Monee, he managed to return to her father's home where his wounds were dressed by the medicine man. One day as he was seated in the shade with Monee, convalescing from his injuries, the Indian princess promised to become his bride provided her father, Chief Standing Wolf, would give his consent.

Consent to the marriage was obtained from Chief Standing Wolf. Arrangements were made

Better Fishing
Although no very big fish have rewarded their efforts, fishermen in this area have been having a field day on walleyes in the bay along the shore south of Escanaba. Few undersized fish are being hooked and limit catches of 14 to 20 inch fish are common.

Among the outstanding entries of the week in the Daily Press fishing contest is a 6 pound, 6 ounce rainbow, 26½ inches long and 13 5/6 inches in girth that Orrie H. Wells of 1639 S. 51st Ave., Cicero, Ill., landed while fishing an orange and white fly in the West Branch of the Whitefish river on May 31. Wells landed a 16 inch trout out of the same hole on Memorial day.

A yearly visitor to this area for the last ten years, Wells knows his way about the best fishing spots. Always enthusiastic about cur fishing, Wells caused considerable consternation in the mind of his friend Elmer Swanson, when he greeted him with the statement that this was one of his last trips up here. That was soon smoothed out when he explained that he was going to retire after 35 years with the Western Electric at Cicero and make Escanaba his home. The big fish will now have to go into hiding.

The rainbow class has a new leader, a 7½ pounder, 27½ inches long and 14½ inches in girth caught by Ralph P. Crose, of 1818 Marine street, South Bend, Ind., from the Black river over in Mackinac county. Worms were the bait.

Largest fish entered in any class in the contest so far is Jon Baldwin's 18 pound lake trout. Jon was fishing an orange and black flatfish with a light steel rod and a casting line in Lake Superior off the mouth of the Rock river when the trout hit. He had the help of his father, Ted Baldwin, in landing it. When safely ashore, it was found to measure 34½ inches in length and 20 inches in girth.

Other new class leaders are a perch, weighing 1 pound, 3 ounces, 14½ inches long and 9½ inches in girth caught in Little Bay de Noc near Rapid River by Walter Busch of Rapid River on worms; a Menominee whitefish, 1 pound, 15 ounces in weight, 16¾ inches in length, 9¾ inches in girth caught by Ken Murray of 307 N. 14th street, Escanaba, while fishing a minnow on a throw line off the Merchant dock on Escanaba's waterfront.

Few Ducks
Duck hunters may as well start now, join the gun clubs and get some practice for they will have to make their shots tell as never before when the season rolls around again. Unofficial guessing is that the season will be cut to about 30 days and the bag limit will be reduced.

While there has been no official indication from the Fish and Wildlife service on the season length and bag limit, that agency now plans to issue its migratory bird hunting regulations in July, a month earlier than usual.

The service announced recently in Washington that its six-man committee on regulations, meeting with the agency's five regional directors, will start drafting the new hunting rules at Chicago on Monday.

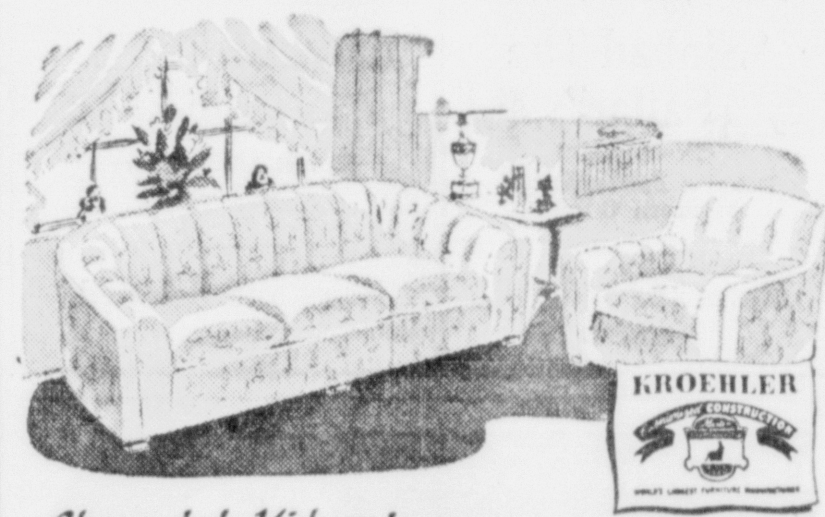

The group will consider the decline in waterfowl population from 125,000,000 in 1944 and 20,000,000 last year to 54,000,000 last January—the lowest since 1938—and the tremendous increase in hunters since 1938, estimated as high as 200 percent, something in the neighborhood of 2,000,000.

Last year the hunting season for migratory waterfowl was reduced from 80 to 45 days, the daily bag limit from 10 to seven and the possession limit from 20 to 14.

Invitation Out
The shotgun fraternity is not the only one that can derive benefit from the club idea. The upland and big game hunter numbers are also rising by leaps and bounds. Rifle clubs offer shooters aid in developing proficiency in the handling of their guns and, most important, an opportunity to spread the knowledge that makes

Trip By Boat On Manistique River

Three Manistique youths, Paul McNamara, Bill McKenzie and Dick Harbick, are starting out today on a river trip from Germfask to Manistique. The trip will be made in a rowboat with no definite schedule set for their return. If fishing is good in any one area, they plan to remain for a day or so and try it out. They expect to be gone about a week.

The trip from Germfask to Manistique — by row boat — would be about 30 miles, but on this meandering stream the distance is more than three times greater.

The boat will be taken to Germfask today and launched in the river just this side of the town. The boys have taken along an outboard motor but do not intend to use it except in an emergency.

More Than Fifty Race
Events On July 4
Program

More than 50 different sports events, most of which are races and contests for boys and girls, are on the sports program for Manistique's Fourth of July celebration.

Tentative plans were mapped out at a meeting of the celebration committee Friday evening.

Some of these events will be held on South Cedar street and another series at a different time on Deer street.

The events are not confined to children, there will also be races and contests for men and women of all ages.

The main events of the day will include an early morning salute, a parade, ball games, a water fight between members of the regular and the volunteer fire departments, boxing, fireworks display and pavement dancing.

The fireworks display has been booked and a trained expert sent to the company will be on hand to set it off.

With the general plans for the event practically complete, the details will be worked out in the course of a week. "It has been a long time since Manistique has had an Independence Day celebration," Thor Reque, general chairman, said, "and it therefore behooves every citizen to help make this one an observance that will make up for lost time."

Lunkers From Thompson
Hatchery Are Given
New Home

Four German brown trout, ranging from 18 to 20 inches in length have been planted in the Big Spring at Palms-Book State park, Louis G. England, manager reports.

This makes a total of seven now in the spring, the others have been planted from time to time in years past. The four new ones were placed there the first of the week by the Division of Fisheries state fish hatchery at Thompson.

Trout in the spring have always been one of the thrills for the tourists who have visited the spring and ridden on the raft. The fish never migrate and remain in the spring the year round. The oldest and largest one has been in the spring since 1939.

Tourist traffic has been unusually heavy this spring in spite of unfavorable weather. On Thursday among the two hundred visitors was a bus load of young people from the rural agricultural school at Beal, Lower Michigan. There were 19 in the group, all members of the school's graduating class.

Earlier in the week a resident of Scotland, who failed to register, was among the visitors.

NEED HOUSING
DURING ROLEO

City-Wide Survey To Be Conducted Here
Immediately

Housing will be needed for many of the persons who are attracted to Gladstone for the Roleo - Homecoming - Firemen's tournament early in July and efforts will be made to line up as many rooms as is possible previous to the opening of the celebration.

Rev. Theophil Hoffmann, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, has been named to head a Chamber of Commerce committee, to conduct a survey and he will be assisted by committees to be named.

Local pastors are being asked to request from the pulpits that persons open their homes to provide lodging during the celebration.

"Even though persons are not able to accommodate tourists during the summer months, it is hoped that many will open their homes to persons who are drawn here by the celebration," Charles

Burton, Chamber of Commerce acting secretary, said yesterday. The Lions club will canvass Rapid River for housing and all available rooms will be listed locally.

It is hoped through the survey to obtain a permanent file so that the Chamber of Commerce will have a directory of rooms available for tourists at all times, Secretary Burton states.

During the war the number of people hearing music while they worked jumped from a few hundred to 5,000,000.
